

Christmas Time is Here

Courtney Gilmartin

Once a year,

December comes around,

Bringing christmas spirit,

That spreads throughout the town.

Cookies are baking, stockings are hung,

Hot chocolate is brewing, the fun has begun.

Evening falls, and its time to unwind; in front of the fire, Leaving the day behind. Gifts are shelved, waiting to be bought,
By people shopping for the holidays, just as they ought. Mistletoe, ornaments, tinsel, and lights, decorating the tree is always a cheerful night. Christmas time brings people together, friends and family, despite the cold weather.
